D.O. No. 171/2/6/2014-Cab.III

29th March, 2016

Dear Secretary,

As you are aware, Hon'ble Prime Minister had launched Governments' citizen engagement platform 'MyGov' on 26th July, 2014. A letter had been also sent to all Ministries by the then Cabinet Secretary to promote citizen engagement activities through MyGov (copy attached).

2. MyGov has already conducted nearly 1300 activities across a range of engagement methodologies such as discussions, tasks, polls, blogs, survey etc. and has a registered user base of nearly 19 lakh citizens. Over 35 Ministries and other central organizations have conducted these activities on MyGov.
3. It is, however, seen that a number of citizen engagement activities including contests, invitation of suggestions on policies and draft documents, surveys and other such activities are being conducted on Ministries websites by inviting participation on specific email address or also through non-government social media sites.
4. In this regard, you are requested to please ensure that all citizen engagement activities pertaining to your Ministry/Department as well as all organizations thereunder are conducted only through MyGov. Since the activities conducted on MyGov are sharable across social media, the links of such activities can be placed on your Ministry's social media as well as Ministry website, but the primary activity must be conducted on MyGov. This will ensure that the user community built up by MyGov is able to participate in a wide range of engagement activities.
5. In addition, the newly introduced MyGov Blogs and Transforming India sections of MyGov have provided for publication of infographics and eBooks. Accordingly, MyGov should be developed as the single repository of all infographics and eBooks published by the Government. You are also requested to ensure that all infographics and eBooks published by your Ministry and other organizations thereunder are primarily published on MyGov which may subsequently be promoted through the Ministry/organization website and their social media.

With regards,

Yours sincerely,

(P.K. Sinha)

August 23, 2014

Dear Secretary,

As you are aware, Hon'ble Prime Minister had launched the citizen engagement platform MyGov (<http://mygov.nic.in>) on 26th July 2014. MyGov presents a unique opportunity for the government departments to benefit from the sharing of ideas, thoughts and on-ground participation by the people through this platform, thereby contributing immensely towards good governance.

2. Since the launch, MyGov has generated tremendous enthusiasm among the people. There are already seven groups, namely Clean Ganga, Clean India, Green India, Skilled India, Digital India, Job Creation and Girl Child Education and people have started participating in these groups actively.

3. It is requested that you may also create groups in areas relevant to your Ministry / Department. The groups may contain a set of tasks, both online and on-ground, as well as discussions where people can participate. I would also request that domain experts may be involved with the concerned groups so that the contributors get an opportunity to engage with the experts, gain from their invaluable insight and thereby strengthen participation on the group. I have asked Secretary, Department of Electronics and Information Technology, to inform you about the platform in detail and provide assistance and training to your officers to enable them to benefit from active engagement with people through this platform.

With regards,

Yours sincerely,

(Ajit Seth)
